The Authors

David Chaffee has been writing, editing and publishing in the area of fiber optics since 1982. He is founder and CEO of Chaffee Fiber Optics and currently edits and publishes a daily report, fibertoday.com, and magazine, The FTTH Prism. He has written two books on fiber optics, published by Academic Press and Harcourt Brace Jovanovich. He formerly served as Corporate Editor for Ciena Corporation. Mr. Chaffee was Washington Editor of Photonics Spectra Magazine. He literally has written thousands of articles and reports in the communications area. Mr. Chaffee played the lead publishing role for this report, including sales and marketing efforts.

Mitchell Shapiro has been analyzing telecom, media and broadband markets for more than 20 years. Most recently, he has been a Senior Consultant with Pike & Fischer, where he has written numerous reports and articles, including several major reports focused on municipal broadband and fiber optics. He has also worked as an independent consultant and as a senior analyst and writer for leading research and publishing firms such as Paul Kagan Associates and Probe Research, as well as Pangrac & Associates, a leading network engineering consultancy. Mr. Shapiro did the primary writing and research for this report.
